

For our final Student Advisory meeting of the year, I had seniors from the high school and an Eighth grader from the middle school in attendance.

I asked them what was good about their high school or middle school years as a student in Montgomery County Schools and what was not so good.

Their responses were as follows:

Good

Great Teachers

Friends

Technology

Not So Good

Teachers

Lack of some classes/activities

What is the Common Denominator?

TEACHERS – Whether good or bad determine the outcome of school success and/or failure in the minds of our students. No other determinant in the school experience is as important as that teacher and the quality of instruction offered to our students.

As children get older, it becomes increasingly more important to engage them more in the educational process. That is why the upcoming PDSA process is so important for our middle and high schools!

What an exciting time to be a teacher in MCS as we work to improve for OUR STUDENTS!
